In Google Slides, use the pen tool to mark off dollar amounts as students play the game. Your marks will remain visible until you reset the game.

HERE'S WHAT YOU'LL GET

TEXT FEATURES - $100

Why might an author put text in boldface font?

What should you do if your house is on fire?
Don't hide, go outside!
Find the nearest door that doesn't have smoke coming out. Open it, close it, and then open it again.

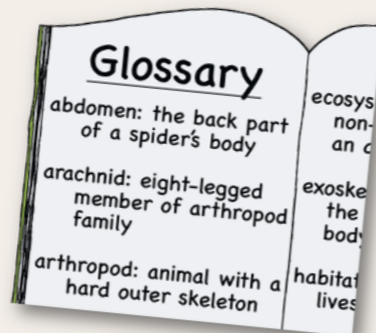

- A. To give the story an old-timey feel
- B. To draw attention to an important word
- C. Titles should always be in boldface fonts
- D. To show that authors make mistakes, too

ANSWER

TEXT FEATURES - $100

B. To draw attention to an important word.

Authors often put important vocabulary words in boldface text. If the book has a glossary, the boldface words (with their definitions) probably appear there.

WHAT OTHER USERS ARE SAYING...

"This was SO fun to use for third-fifth graders! I used this with buzzers and all of the kids loved this. Everyone was engaged and at some points, became very passionate about the game!"

~Caryn T. (used with Grades 3-5)

"I used this library orientation trivia game as part of my beginning of the school year library orientation lessons with grades five and six. My classes are 45-60 minutes long and the students were engaged. They discussed answers in groups and were excited to keep track of their points."

~Nicole K. (used with Grades 5-6)

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Is this game ready to use TODAY?

YES, but you will need to add your library information on the “Our Library” category. The questions are already there, but your library information will vary.

I also suggest you practice clicking a few questions before game play so you get a feel for the game navigation.

What EXACTLY is editable?

Editable:

All dollar amounts, question categories, questions, answers, and captions are all fully-editable.

Not editable:

All images, game board design and title, and layouts/navigation buttons. These are locked to the slide and not editable.

How long does this game take to play?

For my classes, regardless of grade level, it usually takes about 35-40 minutes to play.
